NEW AIRSHIP IS DAMAGED

Count Zeppelin's Aerial Craft Comes to Grief.

IT BUMPS AGAINST A TREE

Covers Eight Hundred and Fifty Miles

In Thirty-seven Hours and Then Is Wrecked While Maneuvering for a Landing Near Goeppingen—Position of the Airship Said to Be Dangerous.

Goeppingen, June 1.—After covering 850 miles in thirty-seven hours, Count Zeppelin's new airship on its return trip from Bittenfeld to Friedrichshafen, came to grief in an open field near here. In maneuvering for a landing, the airship came into contact with a tree, and its position is dangerous.

The damage to the ship is much more serious than at first thought. A cursory examination showed that the envelope had been torn and it was thought that the injury could be repaired and that the vessel could proceed at once. A more careful examination disclosed the fact that the prow was broken and that much time must elapse before the journey can be continued.

The position of the craft is extremely unfavorable, the ground being hilly. The bow rests on the ground, while the stern is about sixty-five feet in the air. A strong breeze sprang up, causing anxiety for the safety of the airship, which it was feared would be wrecked should a storm come up.

After much labor and with the assistance of some of those who had gathered at the scene, Count Zeppelin was unable to shift the position of the airship and was enabled to shift the position of the protection from the wind.

When the accident occurred Count Zeppelin was landing for the purpose of replenishing his supply of benzine, which was nearly exhausted. The motors already had stopped and the airship was nearing the ground on a meadow when a sudden strong puff of wind drove the prow out of its course and against a pear tree. It struck with a great crash, smashing the prow almost up to the front of the gondola and crushing the aluminum stays into a shapeless mass, which became inextricably enmeshed in the branches. Nearly 100 feet of the envelope and frame were destroyed.

LINCOLN OVERCOME BY HEAT

Son of President Abraham Lincoln Almost Unnerved.

Louisville, Ky., June 1.—Robert T. Lincoln, son of President Lincoln, was slightly overcome by the heat near the close of ceremonies of unveiling his father's statue in the emancipator's native county seat of Hodgenville. Mr. Lincoln is sixty-nine years old, and the fierce rays of the sun beating down upon the canvas over his head, the emotion incident to the memorials and the fatigue of his journey almost unnerved him.

He leaned heavily upon the arm of Henry Watterson, who spoke at the exercises and who escorted him to his car. After he had spent several hours in his private car Mr. Lincoln was completely restored.

His chief regret seemed to be that his illness had prevented him from taking the three-mile ride from Hodgenville to see the cabin wherein his father was born.

PRESIDENT TAFT OPENS THE FAIR

Presses Button That Starts the Wheels in Motion.

BIG EXPOSITION AT SEATTLE

Chief Executive of the Nation Opens the Great Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Show by Pressing a Key Formed of Alaska Nuggets—Ceremonies on the Grounds Began Two Hours Before the President Officially Acted.

Seattle, Wash., June 1.—The Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition is open. At 12 o'clock, Seattle time, President Taft pressed the button which set the machinery in motion, using for the purpose a key formed of Alaska nuggets. As the wheels in the various buildings began whirling and the latest of the world's fairs was declared officially opened one feature that excited the enthusiastic comment of the great crowds present was that the management had lived up to its motto of "the show that will be on time." Not only were the buildings completed and the grounds covered with grass and flowers, as though they had been planted for years, but every exhibit was in place. It is the first time any exposition has actually opened on the opening day and the departure has proved most welcome to the visiting thousands.

The ceremonies on the grounds began two hours before President Taft, on the other side of the continent, pressed the button that made the great fair a living thing. The scene presented carried out Charles Dana Gibson's verdict after visiting the grounds that the A.-Y.-P. is "the most beautiful exposition ever planned." Situated between two fresh water lakes in a forest of great trees, with one open colonnade showing a background from different angles, the natural setting to the picture is ideal.

Buildings Go to University.

There are the usual buildings seen at expositions, with the advantage that many of these are to be permanent and after the fair is closed on Oct. 15 will be turned over to the University of Washington, on whose campus the fair is held. The fact that the exposition grounds belong to a college is the cause of a third novelty, which is that this is a "dry" show, no intoxicating liquors being sold in the vicinity. Still a fourth unique feature is that this exposition did not ask Uncle Sam for a cent. The $600,000 which was spent on the government buildings was given voluntarily. To most these are welcome departures and have created favorable comment.

Originally it was intended to make this latest of the expositions simply an Alaska fair on which $100,000 would be spent. Then the plan grew to include the Yukon. At last it was concluded to make it representative of the entire Pacific civilization that is awakening and springing into being all about the shores of the world's greatest ocean. It ended up by spending at least a hundred times the amount first contemplated.

The A.-Y.-P. is commemorative of no past event. It is hung upon tomorrow rather than yesterday, a prophecy rather than a memorial. It exhibits what are unknown and undeveloped, the potentialities of the Pacific Northwest, Alaska and countries bordering on the Pacific. Otherwise stated, it is an exposition of what is very largely unknown rather than of the highest development. Alaska has remained first in the title and inspiration of the exposition.

Country of Great Riches.

This territory, for which we paid $7,200,000, produces three times that amount every year in gold alone. In the last forty years it has produced, besides its gold, $80,000,000 worth of furs and its fisheries have handled a product valued at $96,000,000. The exposition serves to show Americans that Alaska is an empire of agricultural and forest wealth, as well as a treasure box of minerals.

But, while the exposition is important as a means of exploiting Alaska, it has a much broader aspect and significance. It serves to focus attention upon the undeniable fact that Seattle, the chief city of Puget sound, is the natural gateway to the greatest of the world's markets. It is the shortest road to the most promising fields of trade extension in the Orient and the focus of Northwestern development in the United States.

The Far Eastern countries bordering on the Pacific, including the Philippines and Hawaii, have the most elaborate exhibits at Seattle that they have ever attempted anywhere. Here it is possible to find out what these

BOMB-THROWER

AGAIN IS BUSY

Three Persons Injured by His Latest Explosion.

Chicago, June 1.—The famous bomb-thrower, who has been the nemesis of local gamblers for more than a year, resumed operations after a long vacation. Three persons were slightly injured. His latest attempt caused more destruction than any before, as he practically wrecked a building in the downtown district. The entire front of the first floor, which was occupied by a gas and electric light fixture firm, was blown out.

This is the thirty-first of a series of similar explosions, but in former instances bombs evidently were not so high powered as the one last used. The object of the bomb-thrower's attack was a "whist club" on the fourth floor.

The explosions are the result of war between two factions of gamblers. The absence of any explosions in the past two or three months had caused the police to believe the thrower had discontinued his practice.

As usual, the mysterious thrower informed the newspapers by telephone that he had thrown another bomb.

UNION MEN UNDER ARREST

Charged With Being Implicated in Dynamite Plot.

St. Joseph, Mo., June 1.—Fred Campbell, A. J. Sullivan and Henry Sorenson, union workers, are under arrest, charged with being implicated in the dynamiting Saturday night of two new school buildings. The police say they have damaging evidence, especially against Campbell. The schools were being erected by P. P. Budy and J. Leigh, who conduct open shops. Campbell said he was a walking delegate for the Iron Workers' union. In one school were found two charges of dynamite which had not been touched off. Some dynamite sticks were wrapped in four pages of a Kansas City newspaper. The other four pages of the newspaper were found in a stove in Campbell's room.

All three men deny knowledge of the explosions.

Bad Fire at San Francisco.

San Francisco, June 1.—Two thousand feet of the Nevada grain docks at Port Costa, on the bay, in which all the grain from California for foreign ports is located, have been burned. The loss is estimated at more than $1,000,000. Nine hundred tons of grain and 100 tons of hops were destroyed.

Two Boys Drowned.

Detroit, June 1.—Hesler Block, fourteen years old, and Henry Thilke, sixteen years old, lost their lives, and Frank Faulkner, aged ten, narrowly escaped drowning in Connor's creek. The three boys were in swimming. Block drowned saving Faulkner, and Thilke drowned trying to save Block.

Italians in Fatal Fight.

Des Moines, Ia., June 1.—Following a quarrel as to who had the right of way, George Arrobba, an Italian, stabbed to death Charles Leach at the Minneapolis and St. Louis roundhouse. Arrobba was arrested.

HILL VISITS EXPOSITION

Railroad Magnate Also Discusses Recent Wheat Corner.

Seattle, June 1.—J. J. Hill, chairman of the Great Northern board of directors, visited the Alaskan-Yukon-Pacific exposition buildings. Discussing the recent wheat corner, he said:

"It is a mistake to say James A. Patten cornered the wheat market. Here is merely a case of a man taking advantage of an opportunity. It has been only a few years since it was estimated that the average consumption of wheat per annum in this country was six bushels, but now experts argue that it is seven bushels and some pounds. The census of 1910 will show that we have a population of 90,000,000, which will mean that we will require for our own use 630,000,000 bushels hereafter."

"We raise now probably 650,000,000 bushels of wheat in the United States with good crop conditions. This will leave us only 20,000,000 bushels as a surplus for export, while in the past we have exported more than 120,000,000 bushels per annum. So you can see we will need all our wheat to feed our own people. Within the next five years the wheat of Eastern Washington will be shipped eastward to feed the people of the East and Central West."

"And in considering these facts it must be remembered that the number of live stock slaughtered last year was 1,000,000 less than the year previous. When farmers of Iowa, Minnesota and Nebraska can get 65 cents per bushel for corn at the country station they will not endure the risk of hog cholera and the labor incident to hog raising, but will sell all their grain."

MANY ARRESTS ARE MADE

Sympathizers of Striking Carmen Make a Demonstration.

Philadelphia, June 1.—Strike-breakers and motormen from other cities were put to work in an effort to break the strike of motormen and conductors of the street car lines of this city. Notwithstanding these importations not a car left any of the barns after 8 o'clock at night and at 10 o'clock the last car was taken off for the night.

Incensed at the bringing of the strike-breakers here, sympathizers of the striking street car men made demonstrations at the barns where the new men are quartered, and many arrests were made. Most of the prisoners were charged with nothing more serious than calling the motormen and conductors names.

One of the chief demonstrations was made at one of the West Philadelphia barns when the strike-breakers under heavy police guard began taking out cars. A squad of mounted police had to charge the crowd repeatedly before it dispersed. Finally the cars were started, but most of them ran almost empty the entire length of the route while spectators on sidewalks made scoffing remarks.

Mayor Reyburn stated that he would swear in 10,000 extra policemen, if necessary, and keep the cars running for the convenience of the public. The public will be accommodated, the mayor said, if the "city has to take over the transit company's lines and run them itself with the firemen, the police and the extra police."

Wins Marathon Race.

Kansas City, Mo., June 1.—George Dunning of Kansas City won the Marathon race here. Frank Johnson of Granite City, Ill., was second and Guest Garrison of St. Louis was third.

Mrs. Ray O'Dell, of Duluth, who is spending some time at the Brier cottage on Hubert lake met with quite a serious accident on Sunday afternoon.
She was out in a boat with her husband and in making a cast Mr. O'Dell's line fouled, and the hooks on a large artificial minnow being used for bait were imbedded in the lady's ear and face.
It was impossible to remove them with out the services of a surgeon and Dr.
Nicholson was summoned by telephone and removed the hooks. The lady seems to have received no serious injury and is not laid up by the accident.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.
We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars

Are doctors good for anything?

Foolish question! Yet some people act as if a medicine could take the place of a doctor! The best medicine in the world cannot do this. Have a family doctor, consult him frequently. If we did

MEMORIAL DAY FITTINGLY OBSERVED

Honor Is Paid to the Memory of the Soldier Dead and the Living Heroes

CEREMONIES WERE IMPRESSIVE

Address of Hon. B. F. Wright was
One of Most Scholarly Ever Heard Here

Another Memorial Day has come and gone. Again the citizens of Brainerd have joined with the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic in doing honor to their dead. Memorial Day falling upon Sunday the day was here as elsewhere observed on Monday. On Sunday, however, the day was observed in the churches. In the Presbyterian in the morning a sermon was preached in honor of the soldier dead and Sunday evening Pap Thomas Post, and the W. R. C., went in a body to the First M. E. church.

The church was filled to hear the Memorial sermon to the Pap Thomas Post and the ladies of the W. R. C., which was delivered by the Rev. Chas. Fox Davis. The burden of the sermon was to the effect that those nations were the greatest that had the greatest number of striking events to celebrate and heroes that they cherished. Rev. Davis called the attention of his audience to the fact that savages and nations in the lower scale of civilization had no memorial days because they had had no struggles unto blood in behalf of progress. He then referred to the fact that the Civil war had produced some of the greatest men that America has ever produced during her entire history, owing the fact that the great struggle had brought out the latent possibilities of men. The speaker then made a plea for reconciliation of the North and the South, that nearly 50 years was long enough to heal up the breach that the Civil war had made, and showed how the war with all that it cost in money and loss of life, had been the greatest force in giving America a place among the nations of the world. The choir sang some excellent music.

On Monday morning, headed by the Juvenile Concert band which had kindly consented to donate its services, the old soldiers and the ladies of the W. R. C. proceeded to the cemetery where the ritualistic ceremonies of the Grand Army were conducted by the post, they being assisted by the band which rendered appropriate music, by a bevy of young girls who, under the tutorage of Mrs. Bertha Theviot, sang patriotic songs, and by a squad of Sons of Veterans who fired the military salute over the graves of the dead.

After the ceremonies at the cemetery the old soldiers, band, etc., returned to the Grand Army hall, where the Relief Corps furnished a tempting dinner to the soldiers and their guests. At 2:30 o'clock the post and a large number of citizens repaired to the opera house, the use of which had been kindly donated, where the exercises of the afternoon took place. The program was carried out, substantially as published last week, about the only change being the substitution of the Ladies' Quartette of the Baptist church for the Aeolian Quartette. The ladies gave several very enjoyable numbers.

Judge W. A. Fleming presided and made appropriate remarks. Miss Mildred Farwell and Master Werner Hemstead gave recitations after which Hon. B. F. Wright, of Park Rapids, gave the address of the day. It was a scholarly and beautiful tribute to the soldiers, both living and dead and an inspiration to all to heard it. Mr. Wright said in part:

"The generation of actors in that great drama is fast passing away. Every year the ranks of our veterans are thinning out, the roll call is becoming shorter, the war scarred battalions of this soldier host, that can have no recruits, are growing less and less. They are moving on to the shadow land, spreading their tents and taking their places on 'Fame's eternal camping ground.'

"Yes, I repeat it, the record of this great war, the vital period of its existence, the solving of the great problem of the success and permanence of a government of the people, by the people and for the people is a matter of history to most of us and will be entirely a matter of history to all the rising generation of children, upon whom will rest the future fate of the nation. To history alone must they go for their knowledge and inspiration.

"But history, well written though it has been, is entirely inadequate to convey a true conception of the sacrifices, the hardships, the suffering, the heroism of the boys of '61, who freely volunteered to go forth from their homes to do battle against the enemies of their country.

"From it, to be sure, we may learn of the great events, the great generals, the sore defeats and the signal victories. We may learn of the causes of the war, the final determination of the south to rule or ruin, and the equally determined stand of [President] Lincoln, backed by the loyal people of the north, that the great work of the patriots of the revolution should not be destroyed.

"It tells of the first open act of rebellion, when the rebels fired upon and destroyed Ft. Sumpter, and the great excitement which followed it; of the call for volunteers and the eager response; of the surprise and consternation which filled the north after the first battle of Bull Run, and of the sudden awakening of the people to the fact that the people of the south were as determined, as brave, and as loyal to their principles, (wrong though they were, as has been fully demonstrated by the passage of time,) as were the people of the north.

"It tells of the later calls for volunteers and finally of the draft. The historians have pictured to us in faithful colors the historic battles of the war; of the two days fight at Shiloh, when victory was wrested from defeat; of the toilsome siege of Vicksburg; of the long campaign of the Wilderness, where victory was finally won solely by reason of the ability of the north to supply more human beings for sacrifice than the south could possibly furnish, and throughout the whole we see that peerless leader, General Grant, cool in the heat of battle, fearless when under fire, but determined to fight it out on that selected line if it took all summer.

"They have written page after page of most absorbing interest of the three days continuous conflict at Gettysburg, with the fierce, almost hand to hand contest at Cemetery Ridge and Little Round Top, under the scholarly Mead and the gallant Hancock; of Antietam and McClellan; of Fredricksburg and the brave but rash Burnside; of Chattanooga and the devoted Thomas, the Rock of Chickamauga; of Cedar Creek and the gallant Sheridan; of Sherman and his wonderful march to the sea.

"History occupies itself chiefly, however, with the narratives of the battles, the intrigues of the politicians and the achievements of commanding generals. The real history of the war has never been written and never will be. The story of the common soldier, the man behind the rifle, whose individual deeds of valor, of heroism and of sacrifice, have come down to us only as matters of tradition, constitute the real history."

"No attempted review of the war of the rebellion for the purpose of impressing upon our minds the debt we owe this grand old army and the honor due to their memory would be in any way complete without reference to the prisoners of the south where thousands of our brave men suffered and died. (No doubt exists today of the sincerity of the mass of the southern people in the justice of their cause, but there was certainly something radically wrong in their treatment of unfortunate boys of the northern army captured and made prisoners of war.) The names of Libby, Belle Isle and Andersonville are synonymous with cruelty, suffering and death."

"The one event necessary to demonstrate that the civil war had not only successfully accomplished its purpose, the maintenance of the union, but that unification was complete, was the blowing up of the Maine by the Spaniards at Havana. By that shock the whole country was electrified and cemented into one inseparable nation. The work of Lincoln and the boys in blue was complete. The old flag once more became the flag of the south as well as of the north. The 260 brave sailor boys, who by that act of treachery were hurled to doom, called to the whole nation to be loyal to the flag, and more than a million men, men who wore the blue, men who wore gray, sons of men who wore the blue and sons of men who wore the gray, stood ready to hand out their last penny and shed their last drop of blood, in defense of the stars and stripes. * * * And it is fitting here to pay our tribute to the gallant boys in brown, to the memory of the dead; in honor of the living. Both on land and sea these displayed the same eager spirit of patriotism, valor and devotion in '98 as did the boys in blue in '61."

"Soldiers of the Grand Army, this is pre-eminently your day. You are the orators, whoever may be the speakers. All over the land on this day, flowers, medals, empty sleeves, and graves fill the hearts by their silent but visible eloquence. It is one of the sacred days of the year. The people so regard it and by common consent and legislative enactment it has been set aside as Memorial Day.

The work of the Grand Army on earth is finished. They bequeathed to us the richest gift which it is possible for man to bestow upon his fellow man, liberty of conscience, freedom of thought and speech, and equal rights to all. Their battles and marches are over. They have passed the review before the Grand Commander and pitched their tents on the other shore. Let us see to it that their work shall live on forever and in so doing honor and revere their memory by the faithful observance of the ceremonies of Memorial Day.

"Let little hands bring blossoms sweet
To brave men lying low;
Let little hearts to soldiers dead
Their love and honor show."

"We'll love the flag they loved so well,
The dear old Banner bright;
We'll love the land for which they fell,
With soul, and strength, and might."

With soul, and strength, and might.

BREWSTERS TAKE SECOND GAME

City Team Goes Down to Defeat
At Hands of Second Team
Score, 7 to 3

Defeat, all done up in a neat package was handed to the Aitkin ball team, Sunday afternoon at the Koering ball park. Brainerd fans went home simply tickled to a frazzle, for Brainerd won, 6 to 2, and not only that, it was a corking good game throughout the whole performance. Errors marred the work of both teams but Brainerd won the game on its merits. The big opening day crowd estimated at 700 was composed entirely of Brainerd people. Preceding the game was a very heavy shower, the effects of which could be seen in the playing of both teams. Alderman Pete Cardle started the game by pitching the first ball. The umpire called it a strike and it was one, the Aitkin batter fanning the air trying to connect with Pete's twister. Tower held down the mound for the local team and with his usual masterly control, held the visitors down to four scattered hits. His record so far this season is one of unbroken victories and 32 strikeouts in 3 games, striking out 11 of the Aitkin batters in Sunday's game.

The first two Aitkin batters up fanned the air and the third went out on a fly to second. Bush, first up for the locals, was put out at first on a hit to short. Place reached first on an error by the first baseman, going to second and third on passed balls by the catcher and scoring the first run of the game on a sacrifice hit by Jacobs. The locals scored again in the fifth and bunched hits off Anderson in the sixth for three more and run in one more in the seventh inning. Aitkin scored once in the 4th and again in the 7th. Time and again Aitkin would get two and three runners on bases with no one out and Tower would strike out the next three men up. His pinch pitching was wonderful. Tommy Templeton got the longest hit of the day, driving the ball far beyond the reach of the left fielder for three bases. Bush and Jacobs both got two-base hits. Brainerd showed up strong in base running while Parker nipped all of the opposing runners who dared try to reach second. Aitkin had an excellent chance to score in their half of the ninth, with two men on bases and one out, but a quickly executed double play ended all chances of scoring and the game. Brainerd had 2 earned runs and Aitkin none. Struck out, by Anderson, 6, by Jacobs, 11. Each team got four hits. Aitkin had 4 errors and Brainerd 2. The score by innings.

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Aitkin	0	0	0	1	0	0	1	0

And the next day it rained or something was the matter, anyway, the city team got it handed to them and good and plenty at that. The Juvenile band escorted the city team to the scene of their defeat, playing the dead march on the way. The second team did it to the tune of 7 and 3. It was an exciting game from start to finish. The score was a tie 7 innings and then there was a balloon ascension and the city team was in the balloon. Most of the credit should be given to Alderman, who pitched an excellent game. The city team could do nothing with his twisters and he had them at his mercy during the entire game. The work of the infield behind him was fine for they ate up everything that came their way. There was shake-up in the line-up of the city team but it didn't do any good, for it was all "Brewsters" throughout the entire game and Alderman did it.

WILL BUILD BOATS HERE

Minneapolis Firm is Looking Up a Location for a Boat Factory in Brainerd

Elmer and A. E. Anderson, of Minneapolis have been in the city for several days making arrangements to move the business of the Twin City Launch Exchange to this city. They will if they can get suitable location along the river build from 300 to 600 boats per year. They have practically closed a deal for the furniture factory recently built by E. J. Rhone and will use that for the sawing and planing, etc. Mr. Anderson states that if they find suitable location of about two or three acres on the river they will move here as soon as it is possible to close up the business down at Minneapolis.

A. EVERETT WINS AGAIN

Is Successful in Defending Suit
Against Him for Damage
Brought by P. Abeer

District court convened here this morning, after a vacation since Saturday, with Judge Wright on the bench, Judge Stanton having gone to Bemidji to open court there. The jury in the case of Peter Abeer against A. Everett, which was given to them Saturday returned a sealed verdict for the defendant. Other litigants are wondering what kind of a rabbit's foot Mr. Everett has. He has been in business as a contractor here many years and this is the first time he ever had a law suit. He won two this term. The court is now engaged in the trial of the case of Albert H. Bawden vs. John H. Hill, involving an alleged partnership between them in Duluth for the purpose of dealing in lands and options in Crow Wing county. It is being tried before a jury.

Card of Thanks.
We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to our many friends in Brainerd and in the country for their assistance and sympathy at the death of our dear husband and father. Also for the many beautiful floral remembrances. We wish to especially thank the K. O. T. M. for their kind assistance and their floral offering. The kindness of our many friends will never be forgotten.

AMATEUR BASE BALL
Motley takes a "slam" at the local team in a round-about way by publishing the following in the Staples World: "Manager Jacobs has been experiencing considerable trouble in securing games for his colts this season as all the teams seem to want to steer clear of a defeat from the Motley team.

Brainerd especially has been desiring a game and after arrangementst had been completed with Verndale they came forward with a proposition to play a game at Brainerd on the following day, but the arrangements could not be made.

The Motley base ball public has not got very much faith in the Brainerd management as it will be remembered that last year a game was scheduled with them on Decoration Day and that they canceled the game on the last moment and left the boys without a game, although they did finally manage to scrape up a game with one of Brainerd's scrub teams. The boys would like nothing better than to get a whack at the Brainerd team and you may be sure that there will be some fireworks when they do."

What the management of the Brainerd team did last year has nothing whatever to do with the management of the present team, but as far as trying to steer clear from any team, especially Motley, and defeat at that, the present team has yet to see the team that they would steer clear of. Nothing would tickle the palates of the local players and rooters more than to meet the Motley aggregation on a ball diamond. Yes, we repeat it, "You may be sure there will be some fireworks when they do."

Increased Train Service

Effective May 23, 1909, the Northern Pacific Railway augmented its passenger train service by the establishment of new trains, not alone between eastern and western terminals, but locally on main lines and branches in the several states which it serves.

It has thus placed in closer touch than ever the different sections, the various cities and towns, the thriving communities, which for twenty-six years the Northern Pacific has aided and fostered in growth and progress.

This increased efficiency of service means much to the territory tributary to the Northern Pacific Railway.

Additional lines projected or actually under construction will still further increase the scope of Northern Pacific co-operation in the development of the Northwest in the course of the next year or two.

The present through service comprises

LIFELIKE ELECTRIC HEAD.

Odd Exhibit at a Convention to Show Adaptability of Electricity.

A severed head which smokes a cigarette, winks its eyes and moves its ears will be one of the novel exhibits at Young's pier, Atlantic City, when the National Electric Light association meets in convention the first week in June. More than 3,000 members, from 1,400 different cities, will be on hand to exchange views as to the future of electricity and show each other the sights they have brought from their home towns. Probably no exhibit will surpass the electric head in point of novelty.

The head proper—that is to say, the face—and the framework on which the interior mechanism is carried are made the former of papier mache and the latter of wood. It follows closely the design of the famous Perry head and is the outcome of an incident said to have occurred during the reign of terror in Paris. Two medical students agreed that in case one of them should have the misfortune to fall a victim to the guillotine the other should be present at the execution. There, with the severed head in his hand, the question as to whether life and sensibility lingered in the head after decapitation was to be decided by three winks of one eye of the severed member. When this gruesome experiment was made, so the story goes, the eye in the head winked twice, then betrayed no further sign of life.

The idea of the electric head is to show the adaptability of electricity as a means of controlling the most delicate and intricate of machinery. When the head goes to Young's pier it will rest on a table, and an operator who stands near by will with an unseen movement control its motions. To all outward appearance the head will roll its eyes of itself, wink, raise its hair on end, move across the table and puff a cigarette with evident enjoyment.

SENATE WORKS ON TARIFF BILL

Agreements Are Reached on Many Sections.

ARE NEARLY ALL DISPOSED OF

Paragraphs Relating to Agriculture Receive Favorable Consideration. Senator Bacon Enters Upon an Extended Discussion of the Proposed Increases Over the Rates of the House Bill on Bacon, Hams, Etc.

Washington, June 1.—Agreements were reached in the senate during the day upon many sections of the tariff bill, so that as the hour for adjournment approached the paragraphs relating to agriculture were nearly all disposed of. During the afternoon Mr. Bacon entered upon an extended discussion of the proposed increases over the rates of the house bill in duties on bacon and hams, lard, fresh beef, etc., and Mr. Aldrich surprised the senate by withdrawing the committee amendments, saying he believed the house rates, although below those of the Dingley law rates, were protective to those industries. This action provoked further discussion on the part of senators who favored the higher rates. Senator Rayner created considerable amusement by a humorous description of what Senator Aldrich had referred to as the "citadel of protection" and Senator Smith of Michigan advocated a free tariff or a tariff for revenue only.

Early in the day more than two hours were consumed by a debate on a proposition to increase the duty on lemons from 1 cent a pound as provided by the Dingley law to 1½ cents a pound. After earnest opposition by Mr. Root the increase recommended by the committee was sustained by a vote of 43 to 28.

Among other duties effected by the day's action was that on dried peas, which was reduced from 30 to 25 cents per bushel. The duties on chickory root, chocolate and cocoa were reduced, as was that on salt, from 12 to 10 cents per 100 pounds in bags and from 10 to 8 cents in bulk.

Stout, ale, beer and porter were given an increase of duty from 40 to 45 cents when in bottles, etc., and from 20 to 25 cents per gallon when in bulk.

The house duty on bacon and hams and on lard was restored upon motion of Mr. Aldrich, who withdrew the committee amendments increasing it.

An effort of Mr. Bacon to reconsider the paragraph relating to fresh beef, mutton, etc., in order to decrease the duties on those articles was defeated.

DEVICE TO TELL ALL WEIGHTS

Electric Dial Will Be Check on Scales on Steamship Piers.

By a system of electric dials to be installed in the custom house at New York Collector Loeb will be able to keep a check on the work of the government weighers on the various piers, and every pound of merchandise recorded on the United States scales will be repeated on the face of the dials in the collector's office several miles away.

General Clarkson, surveyor of the port of New York, who has been trying for years to change the old methods of weighing merchandise, has been permitted by the treasury department to carry out his plans. He said the other day that forty-five of this new type of weighing machine will be needed, twenty of which will be built at once. It is a type of machine of which the treasury department has exclusive control, the first machine of the kind having been built for the United States mint in Philadelphia.

"A small royalty will have to be paid to the inventor of this machine, who heretofore has not reaped much advantage from his invention," said General Clarkson. "The inventor, by the way, Frank Davis, told me he had been unable to get his invention taken up by any of the big manufacturers of scales."

Connected with each of the forty-five machines on as many piers will be a wire running to the custom house, operating a dial hand, which will duplicate the weight, together with an indicator giving a description of the merchandise being weighed.

PLAN TO USE PEAT.

Colonel Astor Invents Machine For Utilizing It For Fuel.

Colonel John Jacob Astor, who has appeared frequently on the patent office records as an inventor of practical devices, has applied for a patent for an invention which, it is expected, will utilize the vast deposits of peat found in the United States and other parts of the world. Peat has been used with fair success as a fuel, but because of the amount of water contained in it a long season of drying is necessary before it can be burned.

The vibrator disintegrator which has been invented by Colonel Astor will, it is believed, solve the problem of the commercial manufacture of gas from peat. The disintegrator utilizes the expansive force of the air and gases within the porous peat to disrupt and disintegrate the latter and to permit

RESULTS ON THE DIAMOND

World's Professional Record for Long Baseball Games Broken.

Bloomington, Ill., June 1.—Bloomington and Decatur of the Three I league broke the world's professional record for long baseball games in a contest which went twenty-six innings, Decatur winning, 2 to 1. The game started at 2 o'clock, a double-header being scheduled, and the first ten innings were played in a steady drizzle. The grounds were muddy and slippery, but the fielding on both sides was sensational and the pitching of both Burns and Clark was phenomenal. Decatur won in the twenty-sixth inning when Fisher was hit by a pitched ball and Purtell made a three-bagger. Bloomington protested the game, claiming Fisher cut second base. The game was called for fifteen minutes on account of rain in the fifth inning. The actual playing time was 4 hours and 20 minutes.

Other Three I League games resulted as follows:

At Rock Island, 4; Davenport, 7. At Dubuque, 3; Cedar Rapids, 2. Second game—Cedar Rapids, 0; Dubuque, 8.

Lived 152 Years.

Wm. Parr—England's oldest man—married the third time at 120, worked in the fields till 132 and lived 20 years longer. People should be youthful at 80. James Wright, of Spurlock, Ky., shows how to remain young. "I feel just like a 16-year-boy," he writes, "after taking six bottles of Electric Bitters. For thirty years kidney trouble made life a burden, but the first bottle of this wonderful medicine convinced me I had found the greatest cure on earth." They're a godsend to weak, sickly rundown or old people. Try them. 50c at H. P. Dunn. t t s w l
